

>SELF_PASSAGE<

disneyland_can_wait | a/w_2007_collection

Method Cookbook by Wronsov a.k.a Otto von Busch

© copyleft 2007 selfpassage | www.selfpassage.org

Photos by conjunction studio | www.conjunction.se

Produced 2007 in limited edition, provided together with labels.

disneyland_can_wait

autumn/winter 2007
collection of methods
from self_passage

a cookbook

cuffShirt

ingredients:

1 old shirt
sleeves from another shirt
needle and thread

1. take two shirts. cut off sleeves.
the larger shirt above the elbow.
the smaller shirt above the cuff.

2. pair the sleeves .the sleeves
should be quite long.

3. turn the sleeves inside out and
pin together. add pleats if necessary so as to make the sleeves fit.

4. mark the cuff where the base of your thumb meets the cuff.
unpick the cuff stitch.

5. cut off a small curved strip from the cuff at the thumb mark.

6. turn cuff inside out. take up a few stitches so as to bear the front seam. sew a new seam along cuff edge.

7. it should look like this.

8. attach the cuff to the sleeve.

9. and hope the finished shirt looks something like this.

obliqueCollarShirt

ingredients:

1 old shirt
sleeves from another shirt
flat collar from another shirt
some interesting buttons
needle and thread

1. take an old shirt, preferably with a standing overlap collar.

2. cut off sleeves below elbows and add a part of a sleeve from another shirt.

3. turn inside-out, pin the pieces together and sew.

4. looking something like this.

5. take a shirt with a normal collar, preferably one that is several sizes too big for you.

6. unpick the stitching of the collar.

7. attach the collar to the standing collar. the attached collar should sit about 3 cm off the button hole of the standing collar.

8. replace buttons as and where you please.

gillsShirt

ingredients:

1 old shirt

about 20 x 20 cm of cloth
needle and thread

giltSchirt

ingredients:
1 old shirt
about 20 x 20 cm of cloth
needle and thread

1. take your old shirt

2. make two cuts in the back, up to a point just beneath the shoulder blade.

3. make two ovals from the other piece of cloth.

4. pin at top of the cuts and make waist narrower according to your preferred fit.

5. sew it together. be careful where the three seams meet.

6. enjoy the new width around the shoulders. now breath.

pleatPants

ingredients:

1 pair of old trousers
needle and thread

1. take an old pair of trousers.

2. make trouser legs longer by unpicking the stitches along the lower hem.

3. turn inside-out and cut off a long strip of the outer seam, almost up to the pocket.

4. pin pleats along the outer seam of the leg on the front piece, just above the knee. leave back piece straight.

5. pin pleats along outer seam of the leg on the back piece, but now just below the knee. leave front piece straight.

6. adjust the pleats so the two hems meet. make a new outer seam. enjoy your nice curves.

highBagPants

ingredients:

- 1 pair of old trousers to use as pattern
- a piece of stretch fabric about 200 x 140 cm
- 2 long zippers
- needle and thread

1. to make a pair of very large trousers, take a pair of old trousers and place them on the piece of fabric. using the trousers as guide cut out a pattern that is about 10cm larger. the waist should be very high.

2. pin a long zipper on the outside of the back to pull the excess fabric together to make a nice fit.

3. attach the zipper. close the zip and sew a double line of stitching over the bottom end.

4. repeat the operation for the other leg.
show off your new threads.

shortSleeveSuit

ingredients:
1 old suit jacket
needle and thread

1. take an old suit jacket.

2. cut off a piece of the sleeve.
save the cuff buttons.

3. cut a slit on the shoulder end of the sleeve.

4. fold in about 1,5 cm of the sleeve and lining and pin together. be sure to include the lining.

5. stitch along the hem. be careful at the corners where the folds are thick.

6. sew the cuff buttons on the sleeve as you please.

2

vestSuit

ingredients:

1 old suit jacket
needle and thread

1. take asomewhat oversized old jacket.

2. cut off arms, but note that the cutting line should begin at the middle of the shoulder.

3. unpick the seams of the shoulder pads.

4. cut them so they fit into the new narrow shoulders.

5. fit the shoulder pads into the narrow shoulders. fold hems and pin them all together. sew the hems.

6. cut up the front of the jacket, up to the lapels so they form two tails. zigzag stitch the new edges.

7. a extra layer to suit you.

highCollarShirt

ingredients:
1 old shirt
needle and thread

1. take an old shirt with a large collar, preferably one with exaggerated points.

2. fold up the collar and cut a curved shape out of it, as in the illustration above.

3. zigzag stitch along the edges with as narrow a seam as possible, add extra stitching for decoration.

4. be the 21th century dandy.

more reformation at the method recyclopedia
www.selfpassage.org

