

PUFF SHIRT

shortening the sleeves in a transversal way that creates the puffs of desire.

a >SELF_PASSAGE< method

© copyleft by >wronsov< May 2008

1. find that old shirt that badly needs reform.

2. straighten the arms with cuff opening facing up.

3. cut diagonally up the sleeve, from 2cm above cuff seam up to above the middle of the sleeve.

4. cut then off sleeve straight a little higher up. then cut diagonally again along the dotted line up over shoulder seam.

5. this is how it could look then (the dotted line is here mark the shoulder seams).

6. now pin in the diagonal cuff piece into the new hole. put some pins on the outside to hold pieces together, then pin on inside.

7. create some symmetric pleats to make ends meet. make a straight seam on inside, zig-zag the fringes together.

8. enjoy the diagonal cuts and the puffs of desire.